

HOPE DELIVERED.

When Travis Turner was 9 months old he was diagnosed with a rare form of liver cancer and almost died. His father, Craig, is a member of USW Local 7248 in Ohio, and the family had good, union-negotiated health care through work.

But just three months later, while fighting for his life in the intensive care unit, Travis was kicked off his father's plan because the cost of the baby's care had reached the $1 million cap set by the insurance company.

Now, at age 7, Travis is a happy, healthy first-grader. And thanks to the Affordable Care Act championed by President Obama, he's back on his family's insurance.

When you vote this November 6th, remember, this is what we're fighting for!

NO MORE LIFETIME CAPS. NO MORE PRE-EXISTING CONDITIONS. JUST HOPE.

Watch Travis' story and learn more at www.usw.org/election2012

